

United States District Court
District of Minnesota

Christopher Roller
(Plaintiff)

vs.

David Copperfield Disappearing Inc.
c/o David Copperfield
(Defendant)

Civil Action No. 05-446 JRT/FLN

Opposition to Motion for Dismissal
Amendment to Discussion of Motion for Judgment

I assumed my response implicitly opposed the motion, but just in case, I'll make it explicit here. I strongly oppose the motion to dismiss. Additional thoughts as follows...

Usurpation - seizing and holding (an office or powers) by force.

I believe the defense was trying to focus on "Usurpation", that David stole my powers with force. Celebrity Justice stated "lifted", "stole", and "ripped off" - I've always stated, "acquired" somehow. Force is not needed if my powers were simply granted to the mob (probably by God when I was young), because God's plan knew I'd eventually come looking for the fruit of my powers. God's plan (for me) has always been a gradual change in magic-realization. My powers work remote, and are very well-hidden - in my reality, almost non-existent, but it's well-hid in technology, and little proven. God's plan knew the mob would use my powers, while hiding it, and that's why they were granted my powers - to prepare and propel Earth quietly into godliness, for Earth's ultimate ascent into the New Age.

I realize some of this godly discussion is bizarre, unique, and extraordinary. Also, the deception by the mob in hiding these powers is unspeakable, but I hold no grudges because of the prior paragraph.

I oppose the motion to dismiss...

- For fear that I'll lose, and thus continue my existence as the poor peon the mob have helped turn me into, via employment problems, the incorrect diagnosis of mentally ill by conspiring psychiatrists, and ultimately, divorce from my wife. This case starts to provide restitution for their actions.
- Hundreds of future cases hinge on the existence of my godly powers in technology? Federal and State tax revenue will follow.
- For some reason, the mob doesn't want or hasn't helped space travel. This case will help NASA make the next leap into space exploration.

If the defense is frustrated at my vague, ambiguous, and largely incomprehensible allegations about the mob, like I'm imaging things - for years, people have been telling me I'm wrong about me being a god, and magicians having godly powers - but I was right the whole time.

Respectfully submitted,

Date: _____ July 5, 2005 _____ s/_Christopher A. Roller_____
Christopher Roller (pro se)
13150 Harriet Ave. S #273
Burnsville, MN 55337
952.239.6410