

GE was buying Micro-Medical, and now I had inside access to Conan O'Brien. so I sent his group the first message. The messages to "conan E o'brien" and "conan_o_brien@lycos.com" are from a joke that boss Bob Moore played on me. I was playing jokes on everybody, and he knew that I was fixated on Conan O'Brien, and would do anything to talk to him. So he set up a fake e-mail address, and all the responses were actually from him - the bastard! He was all fun and games when he wanted to be. He is also responsible for firing me (cruelly) from GE. His nickname is "Sheriff", but I remember him better as "Convict" or "Felon". What he didn't realize is that Brian Stack eventually responded, and I was emailing him for nearly a year. I kept our correspondence somewhat secret, even though I knew people were looking at my email.

Curious:

In 1 week, our company will soon be GE.

Is there any chance I could audition for sidekick or be on your staff somehow.

I'm an extremely weird character which I think you'd like alot.

I'd talk more, but I don't know if this email will get to you, so please respond if you get this.

Thanks

Mr. Chris Roller,

I am communicating with you in response to a communique our office received recently. We understand you have been attempting to contact Mr. O'Brien via e-mail for some time. We further understand your employer has recently been acquired by General Electric, and that GE's Global Exchange E-Mail listings are now available to you.

Understand that Mr. O'Brien is the recipient of thousands of communications weekly, and that he obviously cannot respond to all of them. My office reviews all electronic communication received for Mr. O'Brien, and forwards to him those which appear to require his personal attention.

Surely you understand the need to limit the exposure of Mr. O'Brien's personal e-mail addresses. However, in the interest of public exposure, this address has been established as a means of allowing the general public access, albeit limited and controlled, to Mr. O'Brien.

Should you wish to forward any communication to Mr. O'Brien, you are welcome to use this address to do so. We will review you communications in strictest confidence, and will forward any communications that may require his personal attention.

We thank you for your interest in Mr. O'Brien's career, and in the Late Night television show.

Sincerely,

Todd Knight,
Electronic Communications Secretary
Mr. Conan O'Brien

I don't know how to be more serious:

I would like be Conan's new sidekick.

If that's not available, could I work on his staff - I have good programmer/web/development skills, and good humor skills too - I've got plenty references to prove both.

If that's not available, could I take-part in one of Conan's skits with the audience.

I have a goofy-mode. I don't know if I can risk slipping into goofy-mode on this line, even though I think a little goofy is good to show-off my personality. For now, I will try to be as serious as possible until indication otherwise.

FYI. I am most definitely not a stalker, but I would really like to meet Conan and talk with him about some experiences I had last year.

I can give you references/resumes, both serious and goofy, upon request.

Mr. Roller,

I have reviewed your communique, and have decided to forward it to Mr. O'Brien. Your reference to 'stalking' quite frankly concerned me: however, our initial investigation into your background returned no seriously negative results. I would advise refraining from such references in future communications with celebrity persons.

As for employment opportunities on the Late Night staff, NBC is bound by law to utilize fair and open job application practices to ensure equal opportunity for all potential employees. You may forward your resume for our human resource staff's consideration: however, unless selected for a secondary interview, I cannot forward any employment inquiries accompanied by a resume to any non-HR NBC staff (Mr. O'Brien included). You may send your resume to me, or e-mail it to jobs@nbc.com.

Once again, thank you for your interest in Mr. O'Brien's career, and in the Late Night program.

Now you've got me nervous. My big moment is going down the tubes. I feel it. It's good to hear there are no SERIOUSLY negative results about me - only moderate. You must have been talking to the R&D director Rich Adcock (Micro-medical) about my fake-puke-in-the-conference room gag.

You see, I've got all this mischievous bottled up inside me. It needs an outlet - Conan's show is the answer - hopefully sidekick.

So now I ask the question, should I pay him for what he's done, or is the question actually,..... should he pay for what he's done?

Oh my!, Conan, that's a good one. I just about peed my pants. I'm sorry it took me a 2nd take to come up with that one. I'm usually wittier than that. Please give me another chance, Conan! Please!

I could CC this message to him, but instead, I'll just BCC him. Oh, that's another good one, Conan. That was a take 1! I told you I could do it, Conan! Just give me a chance.

Seinfeld had a show about nothing, but Conan, you can have a show with a nothing, a nobody, a loser, a peon like me. Give me a chance Conan. Don't make me beg..... OK, I'm beggin'!

Thanks for writing to "Late Night with Conan O'Brien!"

We make a genuine, concerted effort to respond promptly and personally to every piece of e-mail we receive. As you can imagine, this is a huge task, which is why we sometimes need to stretch the definition of the word "personally." (Also, "promptly," "genuine," and "definition.")

In other words, it may be a while before we get back to you. Fortunately, your question may have already been answered, especially questions like:

How do I get a signed photo of Conan?

Where can I get a tape of that show I liked?

When will that guest be on?

What do you think of my great sketch idea?

Conan who?

You can find answers to these and many more questions by visiting our Web site, at:

<http://www.nbc.com/conan>

Just click on the "Show Info" button, then check out the FAQ (Frequently Asked Questions) section, and watch the answers you seek magically appear on your screen. If the reply is hazy, ask again later.

Thanks again for watching NBC and "Late Night with Conan O'Brien!"

Because e-mail can be altered electronically,
the integrity of this communication cannot be guaranteed.

Check out this reply from Brian.

Notice the "our show". What does this mean?

I'd hate to read anything into this, but is there a message here.

Chris,

That's cool that you're interested in being Conan's sidekick but I don't think Conan will be acquiring a new sidekick. And even if he were, I couldn't help you get the job, unfortunately. That would be Conan's call.

Good luck. If you have other questions, let me know.

Can I be Conan's sidekick? Like Seinfeld, who had a show about nothing, Conan can have a show with a nothing, a noone, a nobody like me.

Once I break out a can of weird on the air, though, I'll make myself known real quick.

Please give me a chance.

This may sound kinda weird, but here it goes...

I had a revelation last year around Feb 1, which indicated that Conan O'Brien knows of me.

This came in the form of 2 or 3 bits(acts) on the Conan Show around Feb 1 of last year.

I can go into more detail about the skits, but....

Did/Does Conan O'Brien know of me (Chris Roller) last year?

One was Dracula surrounding a man on a chair who has a bag of Hershey Bites in his hand. Dracula is sneering at the man who is to be his prey. I think the man is asking if Dracula wants a bite (of candy). Then, out of the blue the defenseless man in the the chair says to Dracula, "Are you gay?" This portrayed a similar event in my life.

Another is a Charlie Brown sketch, where Charlie goes to kick the football and misses, falling flat on his back, cracking his head open. Saturday Night live did a skit very similar. This coincidently happened shortly after I landed flat on my back from snow-boarding and mentioned to people it must have looked like a Charlie Brown episode, then in the following days got myself a concussion snowboarding.

Was Conan portraying me in these events?

I know what you're thinking....you want to have some of what I'm smoking!

There are more messages that I'll send you as I remember them.

Any thoughts?

Thanks.

Well, let me correct that mistake right now.

You asked "How's it going"?

I'm okay, things are going alright, but life will be much better when you answer my last email.

Also, things will definitely be better when I make my debut of my first talk show on the Conan O'Brien Show - that's another message that occurred early last year.

When do you have me booked on the show?

Has/Had Conan heard of me (Chris Roller) last year?

Here are some more messages from Conan's show....

There were a few ladies on Conan's show who remarkably resembled ladies from my past (Phillis Buck for example) - the same ladies who are suppose to be part of my future. Is this true?

Leno, Letterman, The View, Regis and Cathy Lee, The Today Show, the Grammy (or Emmy) Awards, and others had similar examples.

Is this true?

Should I take more meds?

Help me Brian!!!!

Well, if you thought I was out there before, get ready for the following:

Last night's (Tuesday) rerun showed Amber Viletta, 6 months pregnant. Why am I led to believe that she is/was carrying and has, by now, had my baby. Cool lady.

Now, I just want to clarify.....she is not portraying me - she is far too good-looking. :)

If you know of a Dave Letterman lead I can email, please don't hesitate to send it. I mention this because last night he had Madonna on the show. Why am I led to believe that her latest baby is mine?

I've also heard that Celine Dion's baby is mine!

What's going on here? How can this be true if I haven't met these ladies yet? Can you or Conan help me find my way to understanding?

I'm sorry but I find your questions a little confusing. If you're kidding around, that's fine. If not, I'm not sure how to help you. Do you seriously think you're being "portrayed" in various sketches?

Again, forgive me if I'm missing your intended meaning.

Good luck.

There was a sketch with Conan and Tom Hanks, in which Tom Hanks is going to run for President with Conan.

Was Tom portraying me and am I, at some point, going to run for Pres with Conan or vice versa?

Is this true or am I over-medicated?

I saw your name in the Conan credits - you're a writer - cool! So is/was Jonathon Groff. He wrote me a while back.

Your name appeared next to Conan O'Brien's - you and he must talk occasionally. Say hi to Conan for me please.

You know what would make my day/week/year - a phone call from Conan. Notice I specified what type of call (phone). I'm burned out on "psychic hotline".

Brian, did you hear of me (Chris Roller) last year?

What do you think of the Pres. mess? Rumor has it that I may have caused it.

Ya know what's interesting Brian -- the response rate of some of my email - primarily Truman-related messages.

Do you know my buddy Nathan Leeman from high school. Last year, I must have sent him hundreds of messages - I must 'of set a new record for the number of messages seen by human eyes, yet almost all without response - well, I should say, conventional response.

Me and BCC go hand and hand, even here in Sioux Falls - more on this later.

I'm feeling pretty good lately. I don't want to feel too good though - too confident about things. That's just settin' myself up for the fall.

I'm sitting at 6 out of 10 on the confidence (reality) meter - up 3 since 3 weeks ago, 4 since 2 months ago. It never hit 0, maybe 1 momentarily. You can't experience what I have and just discount it.

The smile is growing slowly. :)

Pray for me Brian.

Please help me end this Truman Show....please!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I saw you last night as the ghost of Christmas past. I rarely (almost never) look at the credits, but for some reason I did last night.

What does the ghost of Christmas future say about me?

I hope you, Conan, and crew have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Oh, I get it -- he's the coach of the UM gopher team. Am I to understand I'm digging myself into a hole (gopher)? But why -- I know... I'm not sending you enough email? Like the Wizard of Oz, you can guide me on my yellow brick road. What's my next lead, Brian? Enquiring minds want to know - SFPTs! They've been enquiring the entire year - can't stop now. It's like they're addicted to a show - like in the Truman Show - they need their fix. When my show ends, everyone's end will also be good, depending on the context.

I got some messages from 3rd Rock from the Sun - very interesting!?
Cheers.

Subject: SFI

Since I'm a programmer, I want to develop a few classes to describe the SFPT and a new acronym SFI - Sioux Falls Idiots. SFI is a subset as well as a subclass of SFPT, and is described as follows:

SFPT = class {
  IQ = Very Smart
  ReadChrisEmail { return "Very Interesting" }

SFI = class SFPT{
  IQ = Earthworm intelligence
  ReadChrisEmail { ??? }

SFI is not quite complete yet. I have to implement the ReadChrisEmail, which will take a lot of coding to understand how a descendent of SFPT can digress from an IQ of "Very Smart" down to an IQ of an Earthworm. Stay tuned.....

There's a new breed of stupid here in Sioux Falls - they're called SFI.

Ya know what's great about these messages, I can tell the SFIs just what an idiot they are, and the idiots can never reveal they're getting the message. It's gotta eat 'em up inside!

SFI = class SFPT{

With all this mysterious information about Chris, the idiots figured they've got it all - able to read other people's email, play 2-face, and worst of all, do some very stupid things because of it. That's what makes them an idiot, especially after reading AllMyWohs.doc. What are these stupid things? They require their own functions. It relates to http://www.ivote.com/ivote/vote/vote_survey.php3?survey_id=186. I updated the survey http://www.ivote.com/ivote/vote/vote_survey.php3?survey_id=190 to help you sleep better. You all nearly had a nervous breakdown last time you read it. Pleasant dreams!

That's the bad news. The good news is that it could be years before my Truman show ends. Personally, I hope the good news lasts just a little while longer. In the meantime, I hope you don't do any more stupid moves between now and then.

Oh the irony of it all - if they would have never read my email in the first place, they wouldn't be an idiot today.

Chris,

I'm sorry I haven't gotten back to you. I rarely check my e-mail and just got your messages.

Unfortunately, I don't think there are any job openings right now at our show and I don't have any contacts at Letterman.

Between the show and my baby daughter, I don't have any spare time to correspond with people, at least not very often.

Where are you writing from, by the way? Are you in new York?

Good luck!

Ya know, Brian, my correspondence to such a high profile figure such as yourself/ Conan is like walking a very high tight-rope.

I occasionally lose my balance and it takes a little while to start walking again.

But, the more I walk, the more I can see the other end. Even though the end closes, it still seems so far away. I'm so impatient to get to the end, I tend to walk faster than normal. The extreme height increases the risk factor, yet every step ensures me that there is an end.

I hope the messages of a couple months to go are true.

In fact,

I get more comfort from email non-response than I do from response.

It seems that usually when people respond, I don't like what I hear, or the message isn't clear, or it has dual meaning which I just love to see into, and interpret my own way, which just confuses me even more, thus putting me in confusion overload. Oh well!

So, the stripper was my imagination, yet Celine Dion was not.

It's this "wrong" active imagination of mine that gets me in trouble 2 years ago - believing things like Lisa Scharlemann, Karen Scheurmann and Robin Bangtson

Had a pretty good day today...keeping busy.

I'm getting close to 8 on the confidence meter.
Mom is gonna crap her pants when all this ends.
I might crap mine too.

Just wanted to say Hi to everyone...

Hi!

Help me end my Truman Show, Brian. Pretty please!

2+ years ago, I thought I could do special magic just with a thought.

For instance, I could hover a radar beacon over a person wanted by the authorities.

Well, what the heck, it can't hurt to try.

I'll try it again - this time for Bin Laden.

Let me know if it works please.

I think my manager is gonna bend me over.

You keep me going, Brian.

Cheers,

I think my manager is going to really bend me over, like I'm his bitch.

When do I get to bend back.

When is my day to get back at everybody whose bent me over in the past.

I'm really tired of being everybodies bitch.

Saturday night, I think I talked to a few babes.

They were wondering the order in which I am suppose to have private time with them.

I gotta say Brian. I don't think I smokin' anything, so it must be what I'm eating that causes these thoughts.

But it seems so real, because of the order in which they call up. Staci Stein was first.

Maria Roller called up, asking if we are to get together as well, curious because we're cousins.

I tell ya, I've got some active imagination if it's not real.

I hope it's real because perhaps the end is near.

It seems so real. I don't know if my imagination could have thought up Maria Roller and Staci Stein talking to me.

I totally forgot about Staci and Maria (sorry about that), yet they came out of nowhere to talk to me.

It had to be real.

It had to be real....

Hmmm. It had to be real.

God, I can't wait for this end so I can understand how the force works.

So the question is: Where does my imagination and reality begin, and where does it end.

For instance, can I put a radar beacon over Bin Laden? That's my imagination, but is it reality? If not, then why can't I make it happen?

On a side note:

I truly believe it's time for me to become famous. It's the next step in my evolution. Please help me end my Truman Show, Brian.

Concerning the order of the list.....

By the way, the whole thing is a bit embarrassing for me, but I'll try to have fun with it.

FYI: I don't care what order.

This seems fair: I should meet each based on the order I met sexually, then the order I met non-sexually.

Again, I have no preference.

Chris,

I didn't mean to be rude or abrupt when I asked you to stop e-mailing me. I hope I didn't hurt your feelings since you seem like a nice guy.

The truth is, I don't understand a lot of the messages you've sent me, particularly the ones about your "Truman Show". I'm also very busy, and I'm going through some personal stuff right now and don't have time or energy to try and figure out messages from someone I don't know, even if that person seems nice.

Once again, I do apologize if I was rude the other day and I hope you don't take it personally.

I wish you the best.

I'm not offended Brian, I'm just confused.

The Truman Show refers to the fact that my life is kinda like the Truman Show. People have been watching me for some time now, but my Show doesn't end when I punch through a wall (movie Truman Show), but ends when I become famous perhaps.

I wouldn't say you hurt my feelings, but I have relied on my email to you for comfort - even therapy. I'm even willing to pay you for the therapy I've received thus far.

Is it possible for me to work for Conan?

When I say confidence of 8, I'm referring to how close the real world and my Truman world are. You've helped make the 2 worlds partially merge.

During the Oscars in 1999, too coincidental references were made on TV to females I had met in my past.

I'm even under the impression, "Saving Private Ryan" was named Ryan because of an incident I had in 1986 with a guy named Ryan.

These are additional examples of my worlds merging.

Part of my Truman World consists of people talking to me psychically. I do believe that you've talked to me this way, and told me that it's OK if I email you more. If this isn't the case, I sincerely apologize - please let me know via another email message and I'll not bother you again.

You can place a delete filter on any emails you receive from me. I need an outlet to talk, even if it gets deleted.

Sincerely,
Chris

Please forgive me if I'm bothering you.

Curious.. are you talking to me via psychic powers? It's through this medium that I believe you are telling me it's ok to email you.

If I'm imagining things, please tell me via email so that I can gain a sense of reality.

I find I've really depended on emailing you as part of my therapy.
I'm willing to pay you for this therapy if you wish.

Thanks,
