(Plaintiff)

vs.

David Copperfield's Disappearing, Inc
(Defendant)

Civil Action No. 07-1182 GNE/JJG

Memo in opposition to sanctions

Memo in opposition to sanctions

As I stated in docket #9, I have a valid case of patent infringement. I have provisional patent rights. I see no reason why I should be penalized for using the legal system properly.

I've had about 10 previous cases, but they were all valid claims. I have the legal right to pursue justice when I've been wronged, and believe me, I've been wronged in my day. I'm also being wronged by David Copperfield not forking over some royalties for my wonderful godly powers. With lacking statements I asked for, LeMere admits I fathered Celine Dion's son, so I thought I had the right to be in his life. LeMere's memo connotates ridicule for stating I have 1,000,000+ children, and then he admits it. Makes fun of me for stating I am God, and then admits it.

Lacking statements mean Copperfield has my godly powers and tried to kill me. That is the evidence and factual basis for this claim. It's not frivolous nor vexatious. I'm not abusing the judicial process, simply using it en route to feed my million+ children.

Also, authorization of the motion by this judge could be construed as conspiracy, since the judges in this case have godly powers and would love to avoid patent infringement royalties to Chris Roller. Same for the Chief Judge. There is a conflict of interest. Chris Roller is accustomed to the receiving end of the bend-over phenomenon (www.BendmOver.com), but can it get any worse with another helping of BO. I guess we'll find out...

CONCLUSION

I oppose the motion for sanctions. I've done nothing wrong and shouldn't be penalized. A provisional patent is enforceable for patent infringement in accordance with U.S.C 35 § 271 and U.S.C. 35 § 154. I have the right to be compensated for my wonderful godly powers.
